EMU BAY JETTY

South Australians are encouraged to give feedback about the importance of local jetties through a newly launched survey that will help advocate for much-needed additional state and federal funding.

The Local Government Association of SA is undertaking a study of the value of South Australia's jetties, including how they contribute to the state's economic prosperity, historical significance and wellbeing of local communities.

This assessment will focus on the activities that are supported by jetties, such as tourism, walking, recreational fishing and swimming, and will highlight how crucial it is for state and federal governments to support councils in maintaining these vital assets.

Kangaroo Island Council leases the Emu Bay jetty from the State Government.

We would appreciate local feedback on this project.
